

Billtrust Solutions for Healthcare & Life Sciences

Transforming accounts receivable with AI and automation

In healthcare and life sciences, dependability matters at every level. Your ability to maintain steady cash flow impacts everything from inventory management to customer service across your medical supply chain. By automating AR operations, medical suppliers can reduce payment complexities, ensure compliance, and maintain the working capital needed to drive innovation.

Billtrust is trusted by hundreds of healthcare organizations who have digitally transformed their accounts receivable operations and are realizing positive business outcomes. Our AI-powered software improves accuracy and efficiency of invoicing, credit and collection, and cash application, while arming you with insights and intelligence that improve your business. Our payments platform allows you to create your own policies, streamlines management of multiple modalities and automates the process resulting in faster payments.
